Bum Steer Dope Leads To Dead End Foot Race

QUINCY, Mass., June 11—(AP)—One of the biggest "bum steers" in a long time brought a 10-mile road race to a dead end yesterday.

Forty runners broke away from Municipal Stadium in the annual Knights of Columbus jaunt and at the first marker two men had spurted well out front.

As they started to make a turn on their course, two boys standing by the roadside yelled: "Hey, that's the wrong way."

The runners pulled up for a second and then took off in the direction the boys pointed.

Minutes later the two were smack up against a dead end street and minutes after that the whole field was pulling up behind and all was confusion.

It was so bad that officials said the race would be run over again next Sunday.

What about the two boys? They went thataway.
